30 Days Trial In your Home

We know all about other sewing machines, from treadle to spin; we know them all, the cheapest and the highest price. We have investigated them all—Everyone of them has been found lacking some real essential; every one of them has had some glaring fault—but in which you hear and read so much about, we offer a machine that is perfect, absolutely perfect, a machine in which not the smallest detail can be improved.

And in order to get you to realize this superiority as we do, we have decided three things.

First, that we cannot afford to advertise its low price—you would never imagine that you could get so perfect a machine for so little money. To appreciate its price, you must come to the store and see the machine.

Second, we will offer you the chance to test THE FREE, from treadle to spin, in your own home. The best way for you to become enthusiastic over its one point of superiority after another is to actually see it. THE FREE, for 30 days, we want you to keep it in your home—to see as it is as if it were your own—to test it in any way you choose—to compare it with any other sewing machine you know of and then make your decision. Unless you are fully satisfied—more than satisfied—need, in back to us—it will not cost you a cent, we will refund all you paid on it.

But there will be a lesson 22 dollars why you will want to keep THE FREE when the 30 days are over.

There is no run beauty of its Patch-by design and the standard design which makes it the most beautiful machine ever made in the world.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Terhune, was here yesterday taking testimony in the case of Sarah Moore, (colored) charged with burning her home near Newby last Thursday evening.

Coates Spoke.
Supt. Coates, of Kentucky Rural School was in Mayfield, Mason county last Friday evening, where he delivered one of his strong speeches on the subject of "Consolidation and Transportation."

Moved Store.
J. R. Parke, the well known groceryman and meat market, has moved his store to Irvine street, opposite the jail, and has fitted up a first class grocery and meat market in his new location. He is a popular business man and enjoys a wide trade.

Popular Official.
In the list of officials for the Elks lodge for the ensuing year the name of Mr. Leslie Evans was omitted. Mr. Evans is a popular Elk and one of the lodge always places in a position of trust. His election this year was unanimous.

Out Early.
Drs. Harry Blanton and H. C. Jasper, are the first anglers to try the spring fishing. They caught a nice string at the lake last week and if the weather will only subside a little, they will try again. They are among the most persistent of the local anglers, who dearly love the sport.

The Judge Honored.
Judge James Benton was chosen Exalted Ruler last week at the annual election of Elks. The Judge is an enthusiastic Elk as well as one of the most beloved citizens of his adopted town, and will make the organization there a real official.

Too Dry.
Richmond is too dry. The clouds of dust have choked the people until it has become a burden to pedestrians to walk the streets. It is time for a little moisture and if the oil is not forthcoming now let water be put copiously on the streets of the city, until the oil comes. Millions of dollars are swallowed every day under present conditions.

Great Gate.
James R. Walker has purchased an interest in the Whitaker Automatic Gate, and will canvass every county in the Bluegrass with this great invention. Mr. Walker is building up his immense crop of hemp in Garrard, near Lancaster, which he sold some time ago at $5.50, and when this is done he hopes to sell gates in great quantities.

Coming In.
The members of the Richmond Base ball club are beginning to show up. "Jimmy" Bain, the popular second baseman arrived Wednesday and is looking fine as a fiddle. He says he is in good shape to begin the season, having wintered well. President Herrington has received notices from all the players that they would show up within a few weeks.

A. P. Gebhard, the well known merchant of Conway, Rockcastle county, filed a deed of assignment last week to Judge John C. Chennault. His liabilities are placed at about $7,000 with assets that will very nearly cover this amount. The unfortunate failure seems to be the result of a falling off of general merchandise business in that section.

Mr. Gebhard's friends here hope for a speedy settlement with his creditors, and his resumption of business.

Hobson.

The Spanish-American War Hero Speaks To Richmond Audience.

Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimack, whose deed of valor was greatly responsible for the capturing of the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Santiago, delighted a representative audience in this city last Tuesday evening at the Normal School chapel. Mr. Hobson has been a representative in Congress from Alabama for several years.

His subject last Tuesday evening was "The Great Destroyer" in which he brought out the terrible evils of alcoholism and rectified facts about conditions in this country. He was a real talker, and his audience listened with a keen interest.

His daring feat during the Spanish American war was well remembered by every true American; how he conceived the plan whereby with another naval officer he drove the Merrimack, an American collier, into the channel of Santiago, and by dynamiting the boat, thus blocked up all means of escape for the Spanish fleet, which he sold some time ago at $5.50, and when this is done he hopes to sell gates in great quantities.

On Wednesday morning he spoke for an hour and a half to the student body of the "Possibilities of War with a Foreign Nation" and made assertions that caused much comment from his listeners.

He spoke along the lines that have characterized his speeches in the national house of representatives as well as on the lecture platform of late.

He predicted war with a foreign nation and declared that the United States was unprepared and would be compelled to sue for peace after having been worsted.

He said he believed war was inevitable within the next few years between this country and one of the greatest powers of the world; that the United States was not prepared on account of not having enough ships and would be unable to defend her own.

Like in the Russian-Japanese war, the other Powers would insist on ending the conflict and this country be compelled to accept peace on the best terms she could get.

He said he thought war would come before the Panama canal was completed and that the first blow would be struck on the isthmus.

On account of installing new machinery and the heavy rush of business of late, the Climax has been compelled to put in a new gasoline engine of greater power; power, which was secured from Mr. Ben Hurst, the expert on gasoline engines.

Westward, Ho!

Frank Smith and Jesse Dykes, two young gentlemen of this city, who are anxious to see if the West is really what has been said about it, left Sunday for Torrington, Wyoming, where they have taken positions on a big ranch. There are many Madison county people in that vicinity of Wyoming, and they will receive a cordial greeting.

May Run.

Attorney J. Tevis Cobb, who has been quite sick at his home at Red House, was in the city Monday for the first time in several days and was greeted by his many friends. He is slowly recovering from an illness which made its appearance shortly after the first of the year, which was responsible for his absence from many of the sessions of the recent term of the circuit court. Several of his friends have been urging him to be a candidate for the democratic nomination for representative, but as yet he has not made up his mind.

Season Closes.

The basket ball season with the athletic associations of Caldwell High School, Model School and Normal have disbanded for the season. The Model has been victorious in every game played this year, and in many of the contests they showed their superiority over their opponents by a big score.

The basketball season has made a good record this season, having won against all clubs in several contests, while the Normal had a very disastrous season, mainly due to a bad start, which could not be overcome, although they worked hard.

Elks Initiate.

Messrs. J. S. Sewell, R. H. McKinney, William Smith, Preston Smith and Sam P. Bush were initiated into the Elks lodge last Friday night, and a big jollification was had by a large number of members after the initiatory banquet in honor of the new members was spread at ten o'clock by Joe and was the feature of the evening's program.

There are other applications now in, which will bring out another class before long. During the term of the past year of Elks lodge, the Elks lodge has had a very successful year, and many new members have been added, mostly of the younger men.

Eggs! Eggs!

Saturday was one of the biggest egg marketing days in many years in this city. The local commission markets did a land office business and purchased here eggs, duck eggs and goose eggs in large quantities. Some Norman, the Mals street commission man, bought 900 dozen hen eggs, 50 dozen goose eggs and about the same number of duck eggs. He declares it is the biggest lot of duck and goose eggs he has ever handled in one day, and that this season has furnished more of them than he has ever known. Gott Bros. also made record breaking receipts and report it one of the best days in the history of their business. The firm has shipped over two million eggs to eastern markets this winter.

Two Strap Suede Slippers $3.50. Rice & Arnold.

Bad General.

Last Thursday City county officers brought to the Richmond jail, General May, who is charged with the killing of a man named Meredith and wife in that county about three weeks ago. The officers found him at Winchester, and so intense is the feeling against him at home that he would probably be lynched should he be taken back there. Mayor Robert Johnson was given the charge of the prisoner. The Manchester officers say that May has been guilty of numerous crimes and is a desperate character. May says he killed the Merediths in self defense.

Base Ball Season for 1911 Looms Up In the Distance Most Promising.

Hurray for the season 1911, for the Richmond Base ball club. Just a little more money from a few who have not as yet contributed and the season will be a success beyond a doubt. President Herrington is anxious to get as good financial start and so far he has succeeded well. But there are many people in town and county, who can afford to give from five to twenty-five dollars in order to have the popular game here this year and with every assurance of a pennant winner, they should contribute liberally.

The people of Richmond have shown their public spirit by good contributions and if this season is anything like 1910 in attendance and weather, there will be enough left over at the end to start in 1912 with a very good surplus.

Richmond is the smallest town in the league, but there are more real fans here than in many places.

The park trouble has been settled, Mr. R. R. Burnam coming to the aid of the fans and purchased for $3,500, which will afford enough to liquidate the old indebtedness. Mr. Burnam agrees to sell it back to the club at the expiration of one year at that price and to receive $300, rental for the season of 1911.

President Herrington is looking for a player manager and will get the best man for the place. There are now about twenty men owned by the Richmond club, but of course several of these will be either sold, traded or released before the season opens. There are one or two good players, which the president has his eye on and they may be signed by the middle of April. There are one or two places on the team that need strengthening and with these filled, Richmond will put a surmounting winner in the field.

Deaths

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Congleton, were called to Frankfort last Friday on the death of Mr. Congleton's uncle, Mr. William Congleton, who had been a resident of the capital city for several years and was one of the leading lumber men of the state. He had been a member of the Frankfort city council since 1897.

After an illness of several weeks duration, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller passed away at her home near Waco last Thursday morning. Deceased was in the seventy-first year of her age and had lived all of her life in Madison county, where her father, the late Wilson Broadus, was a pioneer citizen. Always a devout Christian woman, a member of the Baptist church since childhood, her life was filled with charitable acts and kindly deeds, leaving behind it a record of good.

Miller was twice married, her first husband being John Rayburn, and two children were born to this union, both of whom preceded her to the grave. Mrs. Miller was a kind and loving mother, and her death was a great loss to her family.

Thursday afternoon about four o'clock she left the house where she has been stopping here, and walked to her late home near Newby, a distance of about eight miles, where it was supposed her husband was staying, arriving there just after dark. The one or two persons that she met, she declared that she was going to burn the house and her husband also, but they paid no attention to her threats. She was later found in the yard, and she declared she would burn the house.

Thursday evening between eight and nine o'clock, her husband, returned home, and she was found in the yard, and she declared she would burn the house.

After a lingering illness of paralysis and a strong fight against death, Mrs. Carrie Harris Broadus died at her home near Speedwell last Saturday. She was fifty-three years of age and died of heart failure. She was a kind and loving mother, and her death was a great loss to her family.

She was the widow of the late Jere Broadus, who preceded her to the grave about nine years, and who was a prominent citizen of the county. Mrs. Broadus was a devoted member of the Christian church, and her whole life has been an exemplification of the beautiful teachings of Him whom she served so faithfully. A wide circle of friends and relatives will recall for years to come her pleasant smile and the loving words of her kind heart and generous hand.

She is survived by two brothers and one sister, Messrs. Joe and Robert Harris and Miss Fannie Harris, all of this county. The funeral services were conducted last Friday at the home by Rev. E. H. Burnam, assisted by Elder J. F. Frazer, and the remains were laid to rest in the old family burying ground now situated on the farm of George Blair.

Irate Wife

Makes a Bold Attempt to Cremate Her Husband.

Sara Moore, a colored woman, was arrested by Sheriff McCord last Thursday evening in "Chicago Flats," this city, charged with setting fire to a house near Newby, in which it was supposed her husband was sleeping. Her story is a pathetic one, and it may be that the woman became temporarily insane, which caused her to do this rash deed.

A few days ago the white winged dove of peace left the door, and after a family quarrel, they again separated, the woman coming to Richmond, where she took lodging with friends.

Thursday afternoon about four o'clock she left the house where she has been stopping here, and walked to her late home near Newby, a distance of about eight miles, where it was supposed her husband was staying, arriving there just after dark. The one or two persons that she met, she declared that she was going to burn the house and her husband also, but they paid no attention to her threats.
